

Legacy Giving in support of Cartmel Priory

Have you considered the idea of leaving a legacy to your church?

Legacy giving is an important part of our Christian discipleship. Generosity is at the heart of the gospel, as is our call to be stewards of all the resources God has given us. Leaving a gift in your Will can be a significant extension of our generous giving, it is a way of continuing to support Cartmel Priory into the future and helps us to steward our resources for the good of our loved ones.

No matter what the size of your individual gift, this type of giving can have a transformative impact on Cartmel Priory, whether it be used to fund building projects, employ new staff or provide vital core funding.

Writing your Will

Everyone knows it's a good idea to make a will, but for many of us it's one of those things we never quite get round to doing!

Making a Will and keeping it updated is the only way to make sure your wishes are carried out after your death, giving you peace of mind that you can continue to support the family, friends and charities you love.

There is no obligation for people using the free Farewill service to leave a gift in their Will to the Priory, as your loved ones should always come first.

However, we hope people will be considering remembering the Priory as every gift, great or small will make a real difference to our mission and ministry for future generations.

The National Church have designated 50 free Wills to Carlisle Diocese, to be used following Legacy Sunday.
